GEORGE R.

WHEREAS Our Truſty and Well-beloved William Croft, Doctor of Muſick, and Organiſt to Our Chapels Royal; has humbly repreſented unto Us, that he hath with great Labour and Expence, compoſed ſeveral Anthems upon divers Occaſions, for Voices and Inſtruments, for the Uſe of Our ſaid Chapels; in order to be Printed and Publiſhed in two Volumes in Folio, and has humbly beſought Us to grant him Our Royal Privilege and Licence for the ſole Printing and Publiſhing thereof, for the Term of Fourteen Years; We being willing to give all due Encouragement to this his Undertaking, are graciouſly pleas'd to condeſcend to his Requeſt; And We do therefore by theſe Preſents, ſo far as may be agreeable to the Statute in that Caſe made and provided, grant unto him the ſaid William Croft, his Executors, Adminiſtrators, and Aſſigns, Our Royal Licence for the ſole Printing and Publiſhing the ſaid Anthems for the Term of Fourteen Years, to be computed from the Date hereof; ſtrictly forbidding all Our Subjects within Our Kingdoms and Dominions to reprint or abridge the ſame, either in the like, or in any other Volume or Volumes whatſoever; or to import, buy, vend, utter, or diſtribute any Copies thereof reprinted beyond the Seas, during the aforeſaid Term of Fourteen Years, without the Conſent or Approbation of the ſaid William Croft, his Heirs, Executors, and Aſſigns, under their Hands and Seals firſt had and obtained, as they will anſwer the contrary at their Perils; whereof the Commiſſioners and other Officers of Our Cuſtoms, the Maſter, Warden, and Company of Stationers, are to take Notice, that due Obedience may be rendred to Our Pleaſure herein declared. Given at Our Court at St. James's, the 30*th Day of* October, 1724. In the Eleventh Year of Our Reign.

THE PREFACE.

THIS being the firſt Eſſay of publiſhing Church-Muſick in England, after the Manner of Printing, wherein this Performance is done, it may not be improper to take Notice of ſome of the Advantages that may accrue to the Science in General from this Method of Publiſhing the ſame, as alſo the Benefit and Eaſe that Performers in this Way may receive, in Order to their Improvement in Muſick, by having it laid before them in a complete and correct Score; But before I proceed to ſtate that Matter in its due Light, it may be obſerved, That it is not for Want of excellent Compoſitions in Church-Muſick, that We have as yet ſeen ſo few Inſtances of their being made Publick in this Way (namely in Score): But for Want of the Art of regularly placing and ranging the Notes, a Nicety which the old Way of Printing would not admit of. The old Muſick (eſpecially That which conſiſted of divers Parts, as three Parts, or more) was printed in, and performed from ſingle Parts, allotted to each Performer by Himſelf: In which Way of Printing them, their Performances were liable to great Uncertainty; and beſides, (for Want of Marking out their Muſick properly by Bars,) great Miſtakes were committed, both in their written and printed Copies, which not being eaſily reconciled for Want of a Score, ſome excellent Compoſitions have been rendred uſeleſs, and thereby the Names and Works of great Authors in the Muſical Way, have, to their Own, and the publick Detriment, been buried in eternal Oblivion.

Indeed, it muſt be own'd, that Mr. Purcel's Te Deum and Jubilate were printed in Score, but in a Manner quite different from that of the following Performance, by which Means the Faults and Omiſſions which were at the firſt committed, are continued through the whole Impreſſion, ſome of which are ſo groſs as not to be amended, but by ſome skilful Hand, by Reaſon whereof that Copy is of little Uſe to any Perſon not ſufficiently skill'd to rectify the Miſtakes therein.

As to what concerns the frequent Tranſcribing Church-Muſick, (the only Way hitherto made uſe of in Choirs, to continue the ſame); 'tis obſervable, that at this Day it is very difficult to find in the Cathedrals, any one Antient valuable Piece of Muſick, that does not abound with Faults and Imperfections; The unavoidable Effect of their falling into the Hands of careleſs and unskilful Tranſcribers; which is an Injury much to be regretted by all who have any Concern or Value for thoſe great Authors, or their Works.

From this ſhort View therefore of the Miſchiefs of erroneous Printing and injudicious Tranſcribing of Church-Muſick, and the Inconveniences ariſing ſing from the Manner of Writing and Printing it in ſeparate Parts and not in Score; it muſt neceſſarily follow, That this new Way of conveying the ſame to Poſterity, by Printing it in a complete Score, will greatly tend to the Improvement and Advantage of Muſick in general; which Art of Printing, by the indefatigable Induſtry of our preſent Undertaker, is brought to much greater Perfection in England, than in any other Part of Europe; the manifold Advantages whereof may beſt be known, and will be moſt effectually explained by the Uſe and Practice of it. But for the ſake of ſome to whom this may not appear ſo obvious, I ſhall take Leave in this Place to mention a few Inſtances.

1. A moderate Artiſt may correct ſmall Errors where there is a Score to direct him in the firſt Inſtance; but where Muſick is given in ſeparate Parts, in that Caſe, if Faults be committed therein, the whole muſt be tranſcribed in Score, in order to enable one to amend thoſe Faults, and even then it will require the Judgment of a skilful Artiſt to find them out.

2. As to Performers, every one that is but indifferently skill'd in the Art of Singing, knows of what improving Advantage it is, at one View to ſee the Diſpoſition of the Parts, and how they depend one upon another, to obſerve the Beauty of the Compoſure, and to know upon the ſlighteſt View the exact Point where every Part takes Place, either in obſerving the Pauſes or Reſts, or filling up the vacant Spaces, by joining properly in the Harmony; and 'tis very obvious, that this Method of publiſhing Muſick cannot but be moſt acceptable to the Judicious and Skilful, it being the only Way whereby They can be capable at one View to find out the Beauties, or diſcover the Imperfections of any Piece, which cannot in any wiſe be effected, if the Parts be kept ſeparate.

When the Benefit and Advantage of this Way of Printing Church-Muſick, ſhall, by Uſe and Practice, be better known and underſtood, ſome able Hand may be induced to procure and publiſh correct Copies in Score, of all that is valuable in the Church-Way; this it is conceived may be done with no great Expence, if the Cathedral Bodies would give Encouragement to it, by furniſhing their Choirs with one Copy for every Performer of their reſpective Churches; or, if that be thought too much, one Book to a Part for each Side of the Choir, and ſo be ſupplied with them from Time to Time, as there ſhall be Occaſion; This would probably be Encourgement to the Undertaker of this Work to engage in ſuch a laudable Performance as the Preſervation of Church-Muſick, which Affair might be ſo well contrived and conducted, as that the Choral Bodies might be ſupplied with them in this correct and perfect State, at a much cheaper Rate than is now paid for imperfect and erroneous Copies.

What was the State of Church-Muſick before the Reformation, does not appear from any Memorials or Entries thereof, in Books remaining in any of our Cathedral Churches: The immortal Mr. Thomas Tallys, (who was Organiſt to the Court in the Reigns of King Henry VIII. King Edward VI. Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth) was the firſt that ever compoſed a Cathedral-Service in the Engliſh Tongue, from which excellent Work, juſtly eſteemed at this very Day, We may conclude, that the Art of Muſick was not Young in this Kingdom in his Days; We may therefore lament the Spoil and Havock that was made at the Reformation, as of Books of all other Kinds, ſo more eſpecially of Church-Muſick, which being compoſed to Words in an unknown Tongue, we may reaſonably imagine, ſuf-fer'd more than ordinary Violence, from the Rage of thoſe Times, when every Thing that had the Appearance of Learning and Ingenuity was treated with Contempt, and indiſcriminately deſtroyed, as being ſuppoſed to be tainted with Popery and Superſtition; by Means whereof the Art of Muſick, eſpecially of Church-Muſick, was brought ſo low, That were it not for a very few induſtrious Artiſts that apply'd themſelves to the compoſing Muſick to Engliſh Words, in the Way of Services and Anthems, for the Uſe of Churches, (at the Beginning of the Reformation,) The Solemnity, Gravity, and Excellency of Style, peculiarly proper to Church-Muſick, had been utterly loſt: But ſo it happened, That what was by Mr. Tallys ſo happily begun, was with great Succeſs carried on, by other great Maſters, his Cotemporaries and Succeſſors, every Age having ſince produc'd one or more Perſons famous in their Generation for reviving the Credit of that uſeful Art, who by their excellent Performances from Time to Time, have been able to lay a ſure Foundation for the perpetual Improvement thereof.

It is obſervable, That many of thoſe valuable Works have ſuffered no other Injury from the Diſtance of the Time wherein they were compoſed, to the preſent Age, beſides what they may have received from ill Performers, and from careleſs and unskilful Tranſcribers; nor has their real Worth and Value been eclipſed by any ſuperior Excellency that has appeared in the Works of others, who have exhibited their Labours to the World in the more modern Times: But for Juſtneſs and Exactneſs in the Compoſure, according to the moſt ſtrict and niceſt Rules of Harmony, and for their Sublimity and Elegancy of Style, as they have hitherto been moſt juſtly eſteemed and admired, ſo 'tis very proper that ſuch Meaſures ſhould be taken as may preſerve Entire thoſe worthy Monuments, not only in Conſideration of their having been ſerviceable in Divine Offices in the ſeveral Ages through which they have paſs'd, but as they likewiſe have been, and to future Ages may continue to be the Means of conveying great Light and Inſtruction to all ſucceeding Students in that noble and uſeful Science; By encouraging therefore the Publication of them in This Method, the World will in ſome Meaſure recompenſe the Labours of the worthy Authors by doing Juſtice to their Memories, and reap the Benefit thereof in the Satisfaction every one may receive in being poſſeſs'd of ſuch valuable Pieces, publiſhed in the moſt correct Manner, at a very reaſonable Expence, the only Way of making them truly uſeful and acceptable to lateſt Poſterity.

Having ſpent moſt of the Time I could well ſpare from my other neceſſary Attendances and Avocations, in Theſe Kind of Studies, and my Compoſitions having been received in the Performance with more Favour than I thought I had Reaſon to expect, I was eaſily prevailed upon to make them Publick, that other Choirs, beſides thoſe for which they were principally compos'd, might be furniſh'd with them at eaſy Rates, in this correct and complete Manner.

At the End of this Volume is printed an Entire Burial-Service, which it is hoped will not be unacceptable, there being ſcarce any Thing of that Kind that is correct in any Cathedral in England; for Want whereof great Confuſion and Perplexity in that Kind of Performance generally enſues, to the great Detriment and Diſadvantage of thoſe ſolemn Rites. In that Service there is one Verſe compoſed by my Predeceſſor, the Famous Mr. Henry Purcell, to which, in Juſtice to his Memory, his Name is applied; the Reaſon why I did not compoſe that Verſe a-new, (ſo as to render the whole Service entirely of my own Compoſition,) is obvious to every Artiſt; in the reſt of That Service compoſed by me, I have endeavoured, as near as poſſibly I could, to imitate that great Maſter and celebrated Compoſer, whoſe Name will for ever ſtand high in the Rank of Thoſe, who have laboured to improve the Engliſh Style, in his ſo happily adapting his Compoſitions to Engliſh Words in that elegant and judicious Manner, as was unknown to many of his Predeceſſors; but in this Reſpect both His and My worthy and honoured Maſter, Dr. Blow, was known likewiſe to excel.

Service

I muſt acknowledge the great Advantages the ſeveral Anthems here publiſhed have received from the great Skill and fine Voices with which they have been performed, Mr. Elford's Name upon this Occaſion muſt not be forgotten, who was a bright Example of this Kind, excelling all (as far as is known) that ever went before him, and fit to be imitated by all that come after him, he being in a peculiar Manner eminent for his giving ſuch a due Energy and proper Emphaſis to the Words of his Muſick, as rendred it ſerviceable to the great End of its Inſtitution, which loſes much of its Force and Beauty, when by the Unskilfulneſs of either the Compoſer or Performer, the Words are rendred obſcure and unintelligible, which Excellency of giving the Words their due Force (ſo conſpicuous in all Mr. Elford's Performances) though it is one of the greateſt Beauties and Ornaments of vocal Muſick, (I am ſorry to ſay) is not generally ſo well attended to, as it ought to be; though with great Truth and Juſtice it muſt be owned, that the preſent Age is not unfruitful of Perſons deſerving Well in this Reſpect, from whoſe excellent Performances the brighteſt Muſick receives additional Spirit and Beauty, and even the Worſt appears with Advantage.

In all the following Compoſitions I have endeavoured to keep in my View the Solemnity and Gravity of what may properly be called the Church-Style (ſo viſible in the Works of my Predeceſſors) as it ſtands diſtinguiſh'd from all thoſe light Compoſitions which are uſed in Places more proper for ſuch Performances; whether I have in any Degree diſcharged my ſelf as I ought to do on this Head, muſt be left to the Judgment of others.
